

Hebrew Free Loans are available to Jewish community members through a partnership between the Birmingham Jewish Foundation and Collat Jewish Family Services (CJFS). CJFS serves as the intermediary to enable loan recipients to maintain their anonymity during the process.

There are two types of loans available: student loans for college educational expenses and general loans for other short-term/one-time unexpected expenses. Eligibility for student loans is explained below.

Student Loans:

Interest-free loans are available for $1100 per semester up to a maximum of $6600. Repayment of a student loan is deferred as long as the student remains enrolled full-time. Repayment begins 6 months after graduation with minimum payments of $50 per month until the loan is paid in full.

Eligibility requirements:

1. Students must be Jewish.
2. Students must be enrolled with full-time status in either a degree-seeking program or in a program, which will provide certification for a specialty.
3. Applicants must apply at least one month prior to the beginning of the semester for which they are requesting a loan.
4. Students must maintain a “C” average.
5. Students must be residents of Alabama. Preference will be given to students coming from the Greater Birmingham area (352— zip code).
6. A local co-signer, preferably a parent, is required. Co-signers must complete an application including proof of income.

Complete the following application and co-signer application and email them to Lynn Rathmell at lynn@cjfsbham.org. If you have questions or concerns you can email Lynn or call her at 205.278-7105. Once received, Lynn will set up an interview to complete the application process.
